NOW IT'S SUMMER

Summer began June 21. It's silly, but true—silly because children have been enjoying summer vacation, women have been wearing summer hats and men have been trying not to seem self conscious in summer clothes.

People have been going away on summer vacations, moving into cottages for the summer, putting away blankets for the summer, making resolutions to do this and not to do that this summer and wondering what the rest of the summer will be like.

They hope the rest of it won't be like what they've already had. Because what they've already had hasn't really been summer, but merely the tag end of spring, which possibly explains most of what has been wrong with it. From now on, things will be different, maybe.

1-2-3, PUMP!

Officially, last Sunday night, the pump priming program of 1938 began. Government spokesmen, so to speak, filled little dippers with precious priming fluid, emptied them into the well, counted 1-2-3, then told their countrymen to look sharp.

Everybody hopes for the best, which is a good psychological advantage at the outset. Unless something wholly unexpected happens, things will get better. The national government can't distribute more than three billion dollars without some effect.

The trouble, now as always, is how to become adjusted to the probability that pump priming in 1938 won't be much different from pump priming in any of the preceding years it was tried. It's a way to get water, but it doesn't fix the pump.

Few will be inclined to go that deeply into the matter at present. The rest will be too busy holding their battered tin cups level to catch the first bright drops of the prosperity now being pumped out of the begrudging earth.

PROBABILITIES

Commercial aviation officials, sharing nationwide shock from the train wreck disaster in Montana, possibly do not find an unwelcome reminder that airplanes are not the only transportation units which occasionally fail.

The run of mine traveler doesn't carry statistics in his pocket; his judgment is more likely to be the product of impressions. One common impression is that despite a low accident rate in terms of passenger miles flown, airplanes fall with disturbing frequency and nearly always with fatal results for all passengers.

This impression has been deepened by the fact that aviation, being new, is more likely to be news than railroad transportation, which is now so old that its problems usually are described on the financial page. One major train wreck, deplorable as it is, will go a long way to correct the idea that the bulk of the travel hazards has settled on airplanes, instead of trains.

Both are amazingly safe, both give their passengers almost fool-proof safety, with all the probabilities in their favor, but both still are subject to the fraction of one percent of unforeseeable risk which is the cross that transportation must bear.

FALLING BAROMETER

Americans, their eardrums battered with an incessant barrage of bickering about almost everything under the sun, are inclined sometimes to believe that if they could achieve harmony their troubles would be over.

Some of them, forgetting that harmony and independence thought are wholly incompatible, even go so far as to insist that the bickering be made to stop at any cost. They would be satisfied with even the outward manifestations of harmony.

This, then, is a particularly good time for them to take a transatlantic squint at one of the places on earth where bickering isn't permitted—Germany.

Under the Nazis, the individual harmonizes, or else. Of course, he doesn't really harmonize at all, which is a point often missed. He merely keeps his

MOBILIZE 100,000 TO GUARD KING AND QUEEN

PARIS—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—An army of more than 100,000 men—troops, reserve officers, gendarmes and police—has been mobilized to protect King George and Queen Elizabeth of England during their four-day state visit to France next week.

The Paris prefecture of police and the London Scotland Yard have drawn up plans to keep a ring of armed men around the British sovereigns.

Recall History

The minds of those responsible for their safety are on two bits of European history—the assassination of Archduke Franz Ferdinand of Austria at Sarajevo, the spark that started the World war, and the assassination of King Alexander of Yugoslavia Oct. 9, 1934.

Next Tuesday, June 28, the day the British sovereigns will travel the 100 miles from Boulogne, their port of entry, to Paris, will be the 24th anniversary of Sarajevo.

The slaying of the Yugoslav king occurred just after he had landed at Marseille on a visit to France. To guard against the possibility of an attempt on the lives of the British couple, coming to show that the ties between Britain and France are at least as strong as those of the Rome-Berlin axis, the greatest protective service ever known in France has been devised.

mouth shut and plots revenge. That is why, every so often, the Nazis must cut loose on the Jews again—to furnish a distraction for those who, otherwise, gladly would make trouble for the Nazis, themselves. That is why, every so often, a few more highly placed men simply come up missing. When the Nazi masters sang soprano, these men insisted on singing bass, in a different key.

Once more, the political barometer is falling in Germany. There is no other way to interpret the disappearance of notables and renewed persecution of Jews. It's the way totalitarians maintain harmony—with a club.

THE STARS SAY:

For Thursday, June 23

A fairly lively day is presaged from the predominant planetary configurations. There may be rather surprising but not entirely profitable transactions, except in connection with writings and renewal of contracts. An undertone of intrigue or subtlety prevails in all relations, calling for circumspection, particularly in private affairs or intimate associations. Romance or sentimental situations may have a tendency to complicate matters or cause perplexity.

Those whose birthday it is face a year in which subtle, intriguing or complicated situations may cause much confusion and uncertainty. Although new contracts, agreements and all pertaining to writings might prove profitable, yet there is need for vigilance and wise management.

A child born on this day may be keen, lively, adventurous and romantic, with talent for the unusual and leanings toward the unorthodox, which may precipitate it into peculiar situations or intrigues. It may be a money maker, but funds will not "stick to its fingers" very long.

Use Armored Car

The principal problem is to guard the king and queen on processions through Paris. An open but armored automobile with high sides which no bullet could pierce has been made ready. Only the heads and shoulders of the king and queen will show over the armored sides of the car.

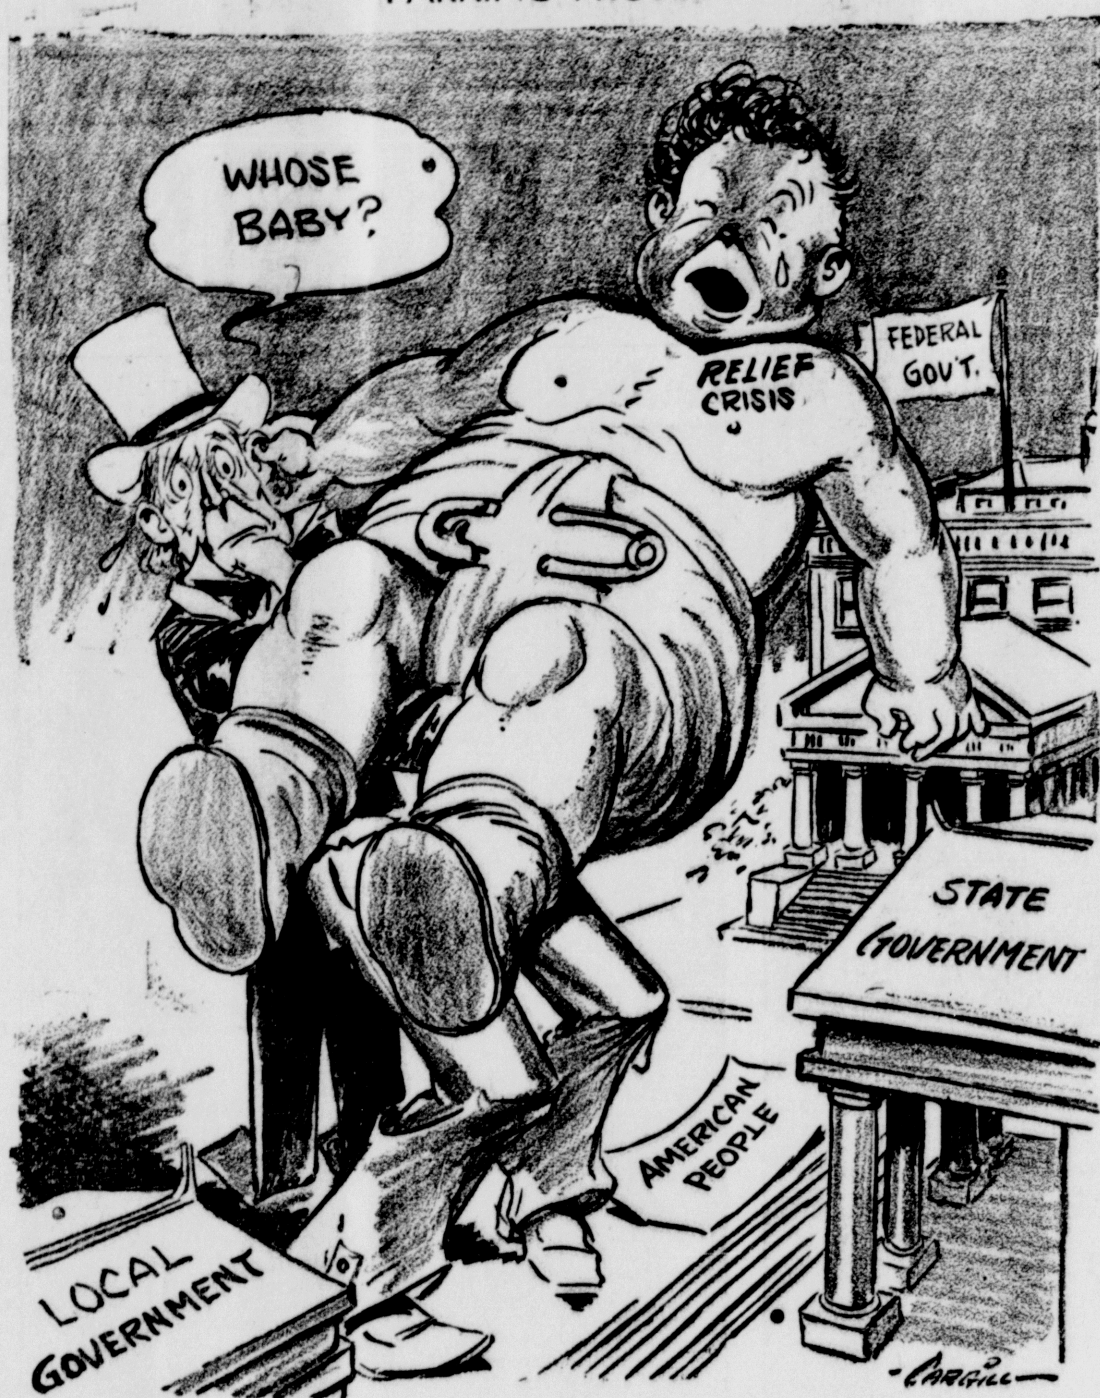

Walls of guards, five men deep, were ordered to line all routes over which the car will pass in state drives. All buildings along the routes will be searched and watched by inspectors.

Roofs, basements and subways will be guarded. Planes in radio contact with police will fly over Paris.

Warships will be on harbor patrol for the arrival of the king and queen at Boulogne and for the departure from Calais July 1. On railroads between the ports a pilot train will precede the royal special and stations will be closed an hour ahead of passage of the train.

At a cost of 8,000,000 francs (about $225,000) 400 workmen have complete restoration of the foreign ministry on the Quai D'Orsay where the king and queen will reside on their visit. Reception halls, dining rooms, salons and private chambers were refurbished in the empire style of the building, which was erected in 1845.

PARKING PROBLEM

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland, New York City.

SYPHILIS

Through the newspapers, radio and other methods of spreading knowledge, the public has been educated in the dangers of venereal disease. It is hoped that as a result of the energetic methods of control and treatment now formulated, this scourge will be completely eradicated.

Today I want to tell you some simple facts about syphilis. It is a dangerous disease and often overlooked in its early stages. Indeed, all too often it is not recognized until great damage has occurred. It is extremely dangerous because it is readily passed from one individual to another.

The disease can be transmitted from mother to child. It is a frequent cause of miscarriages and stillbirths, as well as involvement of the heart, arteries and brain. It causes stroke, blindness, deafness and other distressing effects.

The germs of the disease enter the body, usually causing a sore at the place they enter. This sore is medically known as a "chancre". Sometimes the chancre is located in an inaccessible portion of the body, a place where it may easily be overlooked.

This sore ultimately heals, leaving behind a slight scar. But this is not by any means the end of the trouble. The poisons reach the blood stream and are carried to distant parts of the body where they may do great damage.

Treat Immediately

If the disease is recognized in the first stage, or the chancre is still present, treatment should be started immediately. This treatment, if continued will ultimately entirely eradicate the disease. The treatment takes much longer if the infection is allowed to run on to subsequent stages of the disease.

Let us see what happens when the chancre is overlooked and no treatment is begun. Several weeks after the sore is healed a rash appears on the skin. This rash is peculiar in that it does not itch. Sores appear in the mouth and throat. Swelling of the glands may be present. Headache, fever and bone pains may occur. The hair of the scalp and eyebrows may fall out.

Physicians are often asked whether syphilis can be cured. The answer is definitely yes. But this is true only if proper treatment is given. Unless applied in the early stages of the disease, it will be necessary to report to the doctor at least once a week for a period of a year or more.

The treatment can only be given by a physician. So much depends on the honesty of the doctors that it is well to avoid those who advertise and certainly those who are not licensed to practice medicine. If there is any doubt as to whether you require this treatment, consult your family physician or the local board of health.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD

Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat

Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods, or when you are nervous, hurried or over-fatigued, your stomach pours out too much fluid, burrs, mashes, pain or heartburn. You feel sour, sick and upset all over.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Dole and for indigestion to make the stomach digest food properly, relieve gas, heartburn, pain or upset stomach. You feel better, sleep better and eat better.

"CONTRABAND" by Dennis Wheatley

CHAPTER XIII

Gregory released his breath with a little sigh of satisfaction at the success of his lunge to follow the solitary plane. It had led him to Lord Gavin's headquarters in England, which was perhaps more valuable than even finding one of the places where the contraband was landed.

As soon as the car had disappeared he stepped out from the trees and examined the front of the house. It was now in total darkness and the whole place seemed to be unoccupied. He scanned the lawns before it for the plane, but that was nowhere to be seen, so he assumed it had been run into a hangar. He tiptoed towards the far end of the house.

Passing through the shrubberies there he came upon some greenhouses and then two high windowless buildings which he thought might have been built for covered tennis courts.

Turning right, he found himself at the back of the house itself. The too was wrapped in heavy silence and no light came from any of the windows.

Tiptoeing forward across the gravel, so that it barely crunched under his feet, his shoulders hunched, his eyes alert, like some prowling leopard, he stalked along the rear side of the house, examining each window with the aid of his torch, which he now no longer feared to show as the place seemed to be quite deserted.

At last he found a spot suitable for his purpose. A small uncurtained window through which he could see a scullery and a corner of the window frame was broken. Getting his fingers into the aperture, he wrenched with all his might. There was a sharp crack of splintering wood as the catch was torn from its socket and one half of the window swung out towards him. Reaching inside, he undid the bolt which held the other half and drew the casement wide open. Gripping the sill with both hands, he put his head inside, and was just about to lift himself up when he caught the sound of a stealthy footfall on the gravel close behind him.

Gregory jerked his head out of the window and spun around to confront a tall man who had just emerged from the shadows of the shrubbery half a dozen yards away. The man was alone and did not appear to be armed. A caretaker or keeper, perhaps, thought Gregory. He swung his torch meditatively in his right hand. It was as long and thicker than a policeman's baton.

"Come here," said the man, "and no monkey tricks or you'll regret it."

Gregory came three slow steps forward. He meant to hit the man, and hit him very hard, so that there should be no necessity to hit him a second time. His empty left fist lifted in a feint, but dropped again almost as quickly, when the man took a swift step backwards and snarled, "stop that. I've got a gun here."

It was only then Gregory realized a thing that he had failed to notice before, owing to the difficult light. The man's right hand was thrust

Changing Scene

PUFFALO, N. Y.—New York relatives asked police to trace Mario Ventricelli, last heard from here 27 years ago. They gave his Buffalo home address, a favorite restaurant, favorite theater and the home of friends he frequented.

Police found: His home the site of Buffalo's skyscraper city hall; the restaurant replaced by an office building; a railroad terminal where he visited friends; and a parking lot where the theater stood.

"Stand up, you two! And put up your hands!" she ordered.

into his jacket pocket, which bulged ominously.

Discretion seemed the better part of valor. Gregory had just made up his mind to accept the situation in the hope that an opportunity would occur for him to turn the tables later, when he caught the sound of gravel crunching underfoot again. The other man heard it, too, and half turned his head. Next second a voice yelled, "Jump, sir!" and a dark figure leaped from the shrubbery to the man's back.

As Gregory sprang sideways, to avoid the bullet if the man's gun went off, the other two crashed to the ground together.

They rolled over once, then Gregory stepped in, bringing his heavy leather-covered torch down with a dull thud upon his late captor's head. The man went limp and Ridd, wriggling free of him, staggered to his feet.

"Gawd! You bashed him proper, an' no mistake. Ain't killed him, 'ave you?"

"I don't think so," Gregory muttered. "Show a light, will you. The bulb in my torch has burst."

Rudd pulled a torch from his pocket and shone it on the prostrate man's face. He was a nice looking freckle-faced, sandy-haired fellow of about thirty, with a trim little upturned moustache, and not the type at all that Gregory would have expected to find among Lord Gavin's gunmen.

"He's all right," said Gregory, after rolling back one of the man's eyelids. "He'll be coming 'round in a few minutes. I don't doubt, so we'd better truss him up. How did you happen to come onto the scene so opportunely?"

"Well, it was this way, sir. You'd 'ardly 'opped it into the lane before another plane comes sailing down and makes a landing in the next field to ours. 'Hello, I sez to myself, 'what's all this about? So I goes over to investigate. I was just in time to see this bloke here beating it across the field at the double towards the park, so I follows cautious like."

"Darned lucky for me you did," said Gregory. "It was a good thing his gun didn't go off though when I jumped him."

As Gregory spoke he was lashing the man's feet securely together with the belt of his raincoat. The man was now groaning a little and breathing stertorously.

Rudd pulled off his belt for Gregory to tie the man's hands, and then shone his torch again. As the light streamed onto the limp unconscious head Gregory suddenly let out a sharp whistle.

"Hang on a minute. I thought I'd seen this chap's face somewhere before, when he looked at him just now, and by jove I have, although it was only for a minute. This is the young policeman whom I rescued. Undo his feet again and I'll try to bring him 'round."

They were both kneeling beside the policeman's body when a door

People At Beloit Boiling All Water

BELOIT, June 22. — Beloit is one of numerous Mahoning county communities where water impurities are making necessary a requirement that all drinking water be boiled.

Notices posted throughout the village state that this precaution must be taken until further notice from the county health officer. The order is signed by Dr. S. G. Patton, county health director.

This situation is prevalent all over the county where dug wells are the water supply. Heavy rains have washed various impurities into the wells, rendering the water unsafe for drinking, Miss Elva Boyer, county nurse, reported.

Rehearing Denied
Rate Refund Case
Of Labor Leaders
COLUMBUS, June 22.—Rehearing of the long-litigated Ohio Bell Telephone rate case, sought by a group of Cleveland labor leaders, was denied today by the state utilities commission.
The group sought to upset a commission order authorizing $7-00,000 in rate refunds. The Cleveland subscribers still have pending a suit asking the state supreme court to set aside the order.
Members of the utilities commission held that since the labor officials were not parties to the original action in the rate controversy they had no valid claim to enter the case now.
Led by Marvin Harrison, the Cleveland group contended that had the commission conducted a full rehearing of the case instead of approving a compromise settlement, at least $20,000,000 in refunds would have been ordered.
The commission reiterated its belief that the $7,500,000 refund was equitable, although it previously had ordered $11,800,000. The United States supreme court invalidated the latter amount and ordered the rehearing, which resulted in the compromise.

$8,250 Is Collected
In Gambling Fines
LISBON, June 22.—Grand jury gambling probes including the investigation just ended and the one initiated last fall, have resulted in the return of 53 indictments and the collection of $8,250 in fines, exclusive of costs, according to a report compiled by George Curran, county detective.
Eight of those indicted were from East Liverpool, five from Lisbon and the balance from other sections of the county. There were 23 bills returned against slot machine operators, 13 for number writing, three for permitting gambling,
three for advertising a lottery, nine common gamblers, one for operating a race book.
One secret indictment has not been served because the individual named could not be found.

(By Associated Press)

reported threat.
Her attorney said it was impossible to make a statement at the moment "for legal reasons."

Scotland Yard was said to have posted guards at all ports and airfields to watch for the arrival from abroad of a "suspected person."
Officials were said to have photographs and a full description.
Despite the precautions, however, a nurse wheeled the winsome, sandy-haired baby around the grounds in his big, black carriage during the morning.

Scotland Yard authorities said they had provided no special guards or other protection and disclaimed knowledge of a kidnap threat.
In March, 1936, a month after Lance was born, reports of similar threats were denied. Later, however, a man was sentenced to four months' imprisonment for demanding money from the countess for "exposing" an imaginary plot.
A whole army of the most expert kidnapers would be baffled by the steel shutters and protective devices the countess had built into her new home.

recently discovered that Glendinning's father died before receiving his final citizenship papers.

ASSAILS DAVEY LINK WITH CIO

Sawyer Says Governor Is Attempting To Gain Lewis' Support

CLEVELAND, June 22.—"There are only two candidates for governor in the Democratic primary," Charles Sawyer, one of them, told a party meeting in suburban Cleveland Heights—and added that CIO Chairman John L. Lewis was not the other.

The Cincinnati, former lieutenant governor, replied last night to Gov. Martin L. Davey's charge that he was Lewis' candidate.

"Mr. Davey is trying to make John L. Lewis a candidate," Sawyer added. "He can't do it. The filing date has passed. I don't know that John L. Lewis would want to run, as he never told me so."

"In fact, I have never talked with Mr. Lewis about this or any other matter, as I have never met Mr. Lewis."

To Davey's assertion in a campaign address that he had arranged personally with Lewis for CIO support, Sawyer retorted:

"I am sure that the voters of Ohio will not be fooled by this clumsy attempt on the part of my opponent to obscure the real issue in this campaign, which is—do you want Sawyer or do you want Davey for your candidate in November?"

Assails Davey

Sawyer assailed Davey for what he termed lack of leadership in the state's poor relief problem.

"How can we solve this or any other problem," he asked, "when the governor of the state is either in Columbus hurling the most bitter epithets at members of the legislature, with whom he should be cooperating, or is wandering over the state on a campaign junket x x x."

At Cincinnati, Mrs. E. L. Hundley, president of the Hamilton County Women's Democratic club, said last night she was "shocked by the misrepresentation" of Davey who had said Sawyer "brought two bus loads of women from Cincinnati to boo" him at the Akron convention of the Federated Democratic Women of Ohio.

SCHMELING, LOUIS SET FOR TITLE GO TONIGHT

LOUIS DEFENDS TITLE AGAINST RIVAL TONIGHT

German Seeks To Batter Heavyweight Crown From Joe's Head

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, June 22.—The fight that has overshadowed all else in the athletic world for two years comes true at 9 o'clock (EST) tonight, when Joe Louis, the 24-year-old Alabama Negro, defends his heavyweight championship against Max Schmeling, the 32-year-old German ex-champion, at the Yankee stadium.

A crowd of 80,000 is expected to pack into the famous stadium when the two gladiators shuffle out to meet each other under the bright, hot lights. The throng will have paid close to $1,000,000 to watch the pair belabor each other for 15 rounds, or less in the event of a knockout.

Two sons of the President, a cabinet minister, and celebrities of every stripe will be there to watch the bland German try to repeat the knockout he scored over Louis two years ago in the same arena, and to witness the efforts of the young champion to remove that one blot from his escutcheon.

Louis remains the 1 to 2 favorite in one of the biggest betting fights of recent years, and is the choice of a majority of several hundred experts. The so-called "fight mob" regards Louis as a virtual cinch, and Promoter Mike Jacobs is hoping fervently that the title remains in this country.

The two big men, who have no affection for each other, were meeting at Madison Square Garden at noon to weigh in and have their respective pulses clocked by the commission medicine man, Dr. William Walker.

Louis, in addition to being eight years younger than his opponent, is a little taller and heavier, though not enough to matter. It was reported that speculators were getting as much as $100 for choke ringside chairs, originally priced at $50. There is no prospect of a sell-out.

Schmeling won one small victory before they entered the ring. The boxing commission recognized his demand that Louis not be permitted to wear the Chicago, or "big-thumb" glove that the champion has favored in his recent fights. Both will have their hands encased in six-ounce Everlast mitts, buttressed by plenty of bandage tape.

For the first time in this country, Little Joe Jacobs will not be in the German's corner, the commission having refused to restore Joe's license as a second. Nothing bothers Max except the fact that he has to pay both U. S. and German income tax on his purse, which will be 20 per cent of the net. Louis will receive the champion's customary 40 per cent.

The probability is that Arthur Donovan again will be the referee, though the choice, like that of the two judges, will be known until the fighters are in the ring. It might be a great fight. It should be. There is every element that goes to make a furious, dramatic encounter, including an intense desire for revenge on the part of Louis. He feels that Schmeling caught him in 1936 before he had matured, when he was little more than a cocksure kid.

The sort of battle it will be, however, almost entirely up to Louis. He has been growing for several weeks that he will spring from his stool and sink Schmeling under a fusillade of blows. If he tries to do that, the explosion should be heard in Green Points, and the ring will be filled with large, falling bodies.

Schmeling, with his right that looks like an elephant's leg, wants nothing better. He figures he is certain to down any fighter who comes to him throwing punches. If Louis charges full-belt, the result probably will be known in the first minute. If he takes Max's right, shakes it off and continues to unleash his terrible hooks, then the German's ring career has closed after 14 years.

Despite Joe's fiery talk of late, though, there is widespread doubt that he will continue so hot-headed in the cool of this evening. It simply is not his style.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex.—Young Stuhley, 170, Chicago, stopped Eddie Boyle, 175, Cleveland 45-10.

Sportsmen Favor Retention Of Present Hunting Season

COLUMBUS, June 22.—Retention of the present hunting seasons appeared to be favored in the prevailing opinion of approximately 200 sportsmen who met with the state conservation council Tuesday. The council will fix seasons today for the year beginning Sept. 1.

The present seasons include: Rabbits, Nov. 15 to Jan. 1; pheasants, Nov. 15 to 25; squirrels, Sept. 25 to Oct. 10, and Red Fox, Nov. 15 to Feb. 1 in southern Ohio and a year-round open season in northern Ohio.

A delegation of fox hunters advocated a closed season for part of the year in northern Ohio, asserting there had been a steady decrease in foxes. Numerous others, however, urged that all restrictions on red fox hunting be lifted throughout the state.

McKechie Is Not Thinking About National Loop Flag

Cincinnati Manager Wants Club To Remain Up In Fight, But Says Anything Can Happen

By DREW MIDDLETON
NEW YORK, June 22.—There may be dancing in the streets of Cincinnati and mass cheering by the experts, but Deacon Bill McKechie, the wise and wary manager of the second-place Reds, isn't even thinking about the National League pennant.

"Sure the club is improved," said Bill yesterday just after his boys had cuffed the Giants around 6 to 2, and sliced the New York league lead to a game and a half. "You can't add a pitcher like Johnny Vander Meer, a first baseman like Buck

CLASS A LOOP STARTS THIRD ROUND BATTLE

Mullins And Cigars Win First Games Of New Schedule

Opening the third round of the Class A Softball league, Mullins Foremen and Scott's Cigars posted victories at Centennial park last evening.

The Foremen took the measure of Demings, 12 to 2, to gain their first victory of the new round and their seventh win of the season. The Foremen copped runner-up honors in the league's second round race.

Scott's Cigars unleashed an 18-hit attack to swamp the Trades Class, 11 to 6, for their 10th win in 14 games thus far and their first triumph of the third round.

Mullins Foremen also slapped out 18 hits in romping to an easy win over Demings. The Foremen did all of their scoring in two big innings, pushing over five runs in the second frame and seven in the fourth inning.

Held to five hits by Pitcher Earl McNamee of Mullins, Demings tallied two runs in the fourth frame.

Charlie McCloskey led Mullins in hitting with four bingles in five trips to the plate. Jack Harroff had three for four for Mullins.

The Trades Class held the lead over Scott's Cigars for two innings, but fell behind in the third frame when the Stogies brought in six runs. The Tradesmen held the advantage for a short time in the strength of four runs in the first frame and two in the second.

After pushing over one run in the second inning and six in the third frame, the Cigars sewed up the victory by scoring two markers in the fourth and two in the sixth. The Tradesmen went blank from the third inning to the end of the game.

The Cigars heavy hitting was featured by Kuntzman and Ritchie, each of whom collected three safe blows. Ritchie also went the distance on the mound for the Stogies, allowing nine hits to the Tradesmen.

The Methodists suffered their first defeat of the third round and their second set-back of the season in one of two Class B games, losing to the Friends, 4 to 1. Three-hit pitching by Allen aided the Friends in gaining the victory.

The Baptists registered their first win of the Class B league second round in the other game, defeating the Trinity Lutherans, 5 to 1. Russell and West led the Baptists in hitting, while Pitcher Clarence Hartsough limited the Trinity Lutherans to two hits.

Servis After Fourth Golf Medal In Amateur Tourney

Dayton Shotmaker Holds Lead In Ohio Event Following Opening Qualifying Round

By FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, June 22.—A field of 132 "simon-pures" started in pursuit of Bob Servis of Dayton today at Scioto Country club with only a forlorn hope of preventing him from capturing his fourth medal in six years in the qualifying rounds of the annual Ohio amateur golf championship.

To keep Servis out of the king row the pack had Bob's blazing putter, tradition, and a three-stroke handicap to overcome. Servis shot his way to a par-crashing 70 yesterday in the opening half of the qualifier, the day's lone sub-par round.

In second place were Dan Carmichael and Allen Rankin of Columbus, with a brace of 75's. The first lead the qualifiers in 1933 at Springfield when he won the crown. Last year at Canton Servis again topped the qualifiers, but since he qualified automatically as champion, he turned the medal over to second-place Eddie Meister of Cleveland, who then reached the finals only to lose to McCarthy.

McCarthy, automatically placed at No. 1 in the match play brackets, did not play the first round of the qualifier, but hoped to get in a practice round today before the heavy shooting starts in the match play division Thursday. He took a twilight tour of the layout yesterday.

The 31 low scorers for the 36-hole qualifying grind John McCarthy in the match play rounds, and indicated that a total of 158 or 159 would be necessary to make the grade.

McCarthy was an odds-on choice to retain his crown, with his greatest opposition coming from Servis, Carlin Short of Akron and Johnny Florio and "Hammy" Hedges of Columbus.

Behind the pace-setters, others well up in the standings and these first round totals:

74—Walter Mayo of Massillon, Byron Hunt of Columbus, Tom Bouck of Akron, and Bob Castor of Ashland.
75—Bill Clensy of Cincinnati, Hedges and Tony Ruddy of Toledo.
76—William Gilbert, Sam Bart-schy and Florio of Columbus, and Glen Bishop of Toledo.

77—Fred Hussey of Dayton, short, Harold Guey of Urbana; and Gene Durrant, Willard Young, John W. Roberts, Mike Godman and Paul Tulga of Columbus, and Bob Stranahan of Toledo.

78—William McCabe of Middletown, R. C. Garretson of Ashland, and Glenn Meeder of Columbus.

COLLEGE "SKY" MEET PLANNED

Fifteen Schools Will Be Represented In Akron Competition

Local competitions may be held. The first meet, in 1935, was at Purdue University; the second at the University of Detroit, and the third at Hicksville, Long Island, under the sponsorship of Harvard University.

Crashes have been few. Akron "washed out" its club-owned light plane during a triangular meet with the University of Michigan and Kenyon, and then went on to win the meet in a borrowed plane.

No student has been injured fatally during the school year. Two have lost their lives during vacation months.

Entries for the Akron meet have been received from Harvard, Amherst, Kenyon, Stanford, Southern California, Detroit, Toledo, Purdue, Pennsylvania State, Minnesota, Lawrence Tech, Michigan, Ohio State and Toronto. The Akron club, called the "Cloudhoppers," will be host.

Past presidents of the N. I. F. C. were William D. Strohmeier, Amherst, now a light plane salesman; J. B. Hartranft, Jr., Pennsylvania; and Dan Martin, Jr., son of the governor of Washington.

Decision Awaited On Lutheran Plan

ST. LOUIS, June 22.—Action on a proposed closer relationship between the two branches of Lutheranism probably will await the closing session Saturday of the Evangelical Synod, now holding its centennial convention here.

A committee studying the recommendations—believed to call for removal of several theological barriers—was to have reported to the delegates yesterday. Clergymen said there was more likelihood of acceptance than at any time since the American Lutheran church parted with the Evangelical Synod of Missouri, Ohio and other states.

Six members of the general synod board were reelected, including Rev. G. C. Barth of Cincinnati.

Theater Attractions

Peter Lorre, Rochelle Hudson, Robert Kent in a scene from "Mr. Moto Takes a Chance" which shows at the State Thursday only

"Mr. Moto Takes a Chance", featuring Peter Lorre as the detective again, brings the famous fiction character to the State screen Thursday only.

Rochelle Hudson, Robert Kent and J. Edward Bromberg are featured in the supporting cast.

Wields Varied Weapons
Mr. Moto, mild-mannered, nimble-witted detective, fights poisoned blow-gun darts with hypnotism, jiu-jitsu, swords, burning oil, sorcery, machine guns and magic in a drama motivated by mystery and adventure.

In the jungles of Indo-China, British Intelligence officers strongly suspect that an uprising is being fomented by a native rajah. Into this scene comes Rochelle Hudson, a round-the-world flyer who has landed via parachute from her flaming airplane. An American newsreel cameraman, his assistant and the mysterious Mr. Moto, posing as a Japanese archaeologist, join her.

Immediately, the four are on the defensive as poisonous cobras, wells of death, mysterious murders and high-priests are used in attempts to kill Mr. Moto and his friends until the wily detective outwits the crafty natives.

"David Copperfield" featuring Freddie Bartholomew, Frank Lawton, Maureen O'Sullivan, Madge Evans, Edna May Oliver, W. C. Fields, Lewis Stone, Lionel Barrymore and Roland Young, concludes a return engagement at the State tonight.

At Grand Thursday
The Grand will offer "Reckless Living" with Robert Wilcox, Nan Grey, Jimmie Savo, William Lundigan and Frank Jenks, on Thursday night only.

The comedy concerns the efforts of a group of people trying to get rich quickly through ingenious but never succeeding schemes.

Mainly it is the story of Robert Wilcox, endeavoring to roll up a small stake solely on his luck, with government expense but not carrying appropriations at this time. Furthermore, he said, a large portion of the money appropriated was for loans to be repaid.

Says He's Step Ahead
The chief executive disclosed that he was a step ahead of congress on the $3,750,000,000 spending and lending bill which he said creates a partnership between the federal government and localities.

For three weeks—two weeks and more before congress passed the legislation—he has been approving Public Works Administration projects, subject to signing of the bill, he said.

As a result, dirt will begin to fly within 60 days on projects using $350,000,000 of PWA's $965,000,000 new fund.

All but a little of that sum will be allocated within the next few weeks, the President added, commenting that PWA's money goes to work in the shortest possible time.

The Works Progress Administration, which received $1,425,000,000 from the bill, and other government agencies designated by the measure to fight the business recession—like PWA—Mr. Roosevelt asserted, ready to do their jobs at once.

the attendant ebb and flow of his fortunes.

Supporting Wilcox in the principal dramatic roles are Nan Grey, youthful blonde star, and William Lundigan.

The comedy element, which predominates, is furnished by Jimmie Savo, world-famous pantomimist, who is making his debut as a talking star in the offering, and Charles Judels, Harlan Briggs and Frank Jenks, the famous singing taxi-driver of Deanna Durbin's "100 Men and a Girl". In other important roles are May Boley and Harry Davenport.

Savo sings in his inimitable manner, while Nan Grey also offers a new song, "When the Stars Go To Sleep", a hit-number from the pens of Jimmie McHugh and Harold Adamson.

Best Country Correspondent

Selected as the best country newspaper correspondent in the annual contest sponsored by the magazine, The Country Home, Mrs. Edna Eaton Wilson, farmer's wife from Ripley, Okla., won a $500 prize and a trip to New York, where she is shown writing a letter back home describing "the sights".

under the blanket project which calls for the improvement of three miles of dirt streets in the city.

Twenty-seven petitioners asked the improvement of Prospect st. west from Sharp ave. to the corporation limits.

Twenty persons signed a petition asking that Mound st. be paved.

Twenty-five signed the petition for the paving of Maple st. between Franklin st. and S. Union ave.

The paving of Brooklyn ave. between E. State st. and E. Third st. was requested by 16 petitioners. Councilman Zimmerman, chairman of the streets, alleys and sidewalks committee, reported that asphalt top dressing had been applied as a test improvement to Franklin st. between S. Union and Washington avenues.

Member Litty as chairman of the lighting committee recommended a street light for the north end of Buckeye ave. The committee also has a request for a light on the Painter road.

Train Crash Death Toll Climbs To 37; More Bodies Found

MILES CITY, Mont., June 22.—Officials counted 37 known dead today as the search for victims in the crash of the Milwaukee road's "Olympian" neared an end at Custer.

Finally gaining access to Sleeper B after several rebuffs in attempting to enter the submerged car, workers last night took three bodies from the silt-laden car.

Three more victims' bodies were pulled from the Yellowstone river yesterday, one of them 130 miles from the crash scene. Officials expected to find more.

The trim "Olympian" ace Chicago to Tacoma, Wash., train, crashed wildly into the creek, normally shallow early Sunday, when a "flash flood" loosened a 150-foot trestle 26 miles east of Miles City.

A coroner's jury last night blamed no one for the crash, but attributed the derailment to the "flood waters in Custer creek."

Legion At Lisbon Elects Delegates

LISBON, June 22.—John Grubbs and Clarence Ball have been selected as delegates from the American Legion post here to the district convention in Canton July 9 and 10. Merle Burson and L. H. Baker are alternates. Delegates to the state convention at Cincinnati July 24, 25 and 26 are Mr. Burson and C. L. Wetzel with U. L. White and Mr. Grubbs, alternates.

Breaks Jail, Comes Back To Pay Fine

ST. PARIS, June 22.—The escape of Sam Gillespie from the opera house jail puzzles Marshal Frank Ammon.

Gillespie came back and paid $1 and costs on an intoxication charge, but that didn't solve the mystery of how he got out.

"Somebody besides myself either has a key or the town is harboring a good lock picker," Ammon declared.

Hikers' Paradise

DES MOINES, Ia.—Harry Stedman, city traffic engineer, complained that hitch-hikers were taking advantage of the traffic lights.

For the benefit of pedestrians, traffic lights on some streets have push buttons which make the lights change.

"Instead of thumbing rides," Stedman said, "they just push the button, stop traffic and then ask for a ride."

COMMERCE HEAD IS OPTIMISTIC

Roper Says Business Upturn Likely This Summer, At Least Fall

erated business, industrial and economic upturn." The commerce secretary said among the encouraging factors in the economic situation were the reduction of excess inventories in the hands of retailers and wholesalers and the removal of legislative uncertainties by the adjournment of congress.

Roper announced that a survey of wholesalers' stocks showed inventories on June 1 were 14.5 per cent lower than a year ago, removing a major obstacle to increased factory production. The decrease in inventories has amounted to 9 per cent since early February, he said, and the only wholesale line in which inventories are higher is the heavy hardware business.

"Since wholesale inventories are the most important single measure of accumulated stocks in the hands of business, these figures clearly indicate that excess inventories, as one cause of the present depression, have been largely removed."
